EDITORIAL

This is the Society's first publication. "Branch News" properly belongs to all members, and one of its aims is simply to provide a medium through which members in turn feel they belong to the Society. Within the usual editorial (and Financial) limitations, it is open to the views of any member, at any time. If you have an opinion you would like to express, information or problems you would like to share, or news of any sort which you think may be of general interest - do pass it on, or discuss it with a member of the Committee

Right from the start we have tried to keep our feet firmly on the ground and avoid pretension. We are not a society of experts, although some members do have more genealogical expertise than others. We are all learning more about this fascinating subject all the time. It is clear that the more we are willing to share our research experience with others, through the medium of "Branch News" the more opportunities we shall have to learn from each other

This first edition has been largely compiled by your five Committee members as a joint effort. Our hope is that future issues will increasingly reflect the contributions of the membership as a whole

SOCIETY NEWS

As all members who attended the inaugural meeting on the 2nd April 1976 will know, The Mid-Derbyshire Family History Society owes much to Mr. Frank Payton of the Genealogical Society of the East Midlands. A good deal of interest in Genealogy was developed locally through the 1975/6 series of lectures on the subject, given by Mr. Payton under the auspices of the Workers Education Authority. The formation of our Society was a natural extension of this interest. Again, Mr. Payton helped tremendously in the initial stages of getting the Society off the ground

The lectures were held at the Cressy Fields Centre in Alfreton, which has ideal facilities for any members who happen to be physically handicapped. Mr. Grant, the manager of the Centre, has kindly agreed to the continued use of the premises by the Society for its Discussion and Lecture Meetings

Cressy Fields is situated on the corner, at the junction of Cressy Road and Hall Street, very near to the new bus station in Alfreton.

On the 30th April 1976 the first Discussion Meeting of the Society was held at Cressy Fields. There was a rich display of genealogical material, which created equally rich opportunities for discussion between members. Refreshments were laid on and a raffle held - and it was altogether a very friendly and informal gathering. The exchange of information was prolific, and it was generally thought to be a successful way of getting to know fellow members and sharing experiences. A similar meeting was planned for the 23rd July.

Our first outside project, transcribing memorial inscriptions in Pentrich churchyard on 29th May, is described by Mr. P.J. Middlehurst elsewhere in this issue. A visit to the County records office at Matlock was well attended on the 25th June, when members heard an interesting description of some of the contents of the archives given by Andrew Jones, B.A. Examples of Parish Registers, Rate Books, Poor Law Settlements, and numerous other documents were put on display. The C.R.O. is still relatively young, but it had already gathered large quantities of material, and it was clear that they have a heavy workload, with a good deal of indexing etc. remaining to be tackled. A second visit is planned for those members who could not attend on this first occasion.

MEMBERSHIP LIST

The following list of members was compiled on the 14th July 1976. We have included the names which members are researching where these are known, with the earliest parish to which the name has been traced, and the date (either actual or implied). Where no County is given, the parish is in Derbyshire.

THE FEDERATION OF FAMILY HISTORY SOCIETIES

The Mid-Derbyshire Family History Society is now affiliated to the Federation, and our name and address has been added to the official list of member societies. Our existence is also recorded in the Genealogists Magazine. Several enquiries from potential members have been received as a result

As a member society, this will lead to us being placed on the mailing lists of other societies for the exchange of their newsletters and magazines. When these start to come in, they will be retained as part of our own library, but will, of course, be made available on request. We will also receive copies of "Federation News," the official journal of the Federation.

13th International Congress of Genealogical and Heraldic Sciences

The Congress will be held at Imperial College, Kensington from 31st August to 7th September 1976, with exhibitions, excursions, lectures and conferences on a variety of themes related to genealogy and heraldry.

The Federation of Family History Societies is one of the principal sponsors of the Congress and has incorporated its own weekend conference as part of the proceedings on the 4th and 5th September. A full council meeting of the Federation will take place on 5th September. The Federation hopes that as many of our members (and Friends) as possible will attend. The Hon. Secretary will provide details.

Grave Wisdom

(or Have you read any good tombstones lately)

Memorial in St. Modwen's Churchyard, Burton on Trent. This stone was raised by public subscription to the memory of Thomas Stone, an eccentric much respected, better known by the name Dumb Tom, a deaf and dumb man who departed this life 25 Feb. 1837 aged 54 years. What man can pause and charge this senseless dust With fraud or subtlety or aught unjust? How few can conscientiously declare Their acts have been as honourably fair? No gilded bait, no heart ensnaring meed Could bribe poor Stone to one dishonest deed. Firm in attachment, to his friends most true, Tho' deaf and dumb he was excelled by few. Go ye - by nature formed without defect, and copy Tom and gain as much respect.

From the tomb of George Brushfield (died 1825 aged 52) at an old cemetery between Ashford and Monsall Head.

Mortal - Wait not for monumental stone
To tell the virtues once by thee possess'd
For all around thee make thy goodness known
E're thou art called to earth's last bed of rest
And tho' man's envy may thy worth disown
Still conscious uprightness shall fill thy breast
Reward thy life with peace and make thy mem'ry blest

Memorial tablet in Leicester Cathedral (1809)

How loved, how valued once avails thee not,
To whom related and by whom begot
A heap of dust alone remains of thee
Tis all thou art and all the Proud shall be

Memorial in the Church of St. Lawrence, Church Stretton (to Henry Harrington d.1801. Aged 93)

Farewell vain world, I've known enough of thee,
I value not what thou canst say of me;
Thy smiles I court not nor thy frowns I fear,
All's one to me, my head lies quiet here,
The faults thou see'st in me take care to shun,
And look at home, there's something to be done

Problems and Fascinations

The Soult Family.

My aim is to try to prove or disprove the family legend that Nicolas-Jean Soult, one of Napoleon's Marshals, is an ancestor of the Soult of Ripley, Derbyshire. My father's mother was a Ripley Soult. Marshal Soult was born on 29 March 1769 at Saint-Amans-la-Bastide, now St-Amans Soult, near Castres, and died there on 26 Novr.1851

Owing to the disappearance of the Soult family Bible, I had to start my search by sending for my Grandmother's birth certificate; her name was Mary and she was born around 1876 in the Ripley area, this I already knew. Relatives told me her parents were John and Ann. I needed the certificate to prove this in order to obtain their marriage certificate. A full birth certificate usually gives the place of birth, both parents names including the mothers maiden name and the occupation of the father.

A certificate can be obtained from St. Catherine's House, London, provided you can give the approximate date the event took place and one of the parents names in the case of a birth certificate. In the case of a marriage certificate, it is advisable to be able to give the fathers name, as the mothers name is not entered on the certificate. A certificate now costs £4-50 including search fee. If you visit St. Catherine's House and make the search yourself, a certificate will only cost £2-50. Only the indexes are available for inspection and are set out in alphabetical order of the surnames and forenames of the person to whom the event relates, in separate books for births, marriages and deaths, also giving the registration district in which the event was registered and a reference number. These are compiled for each quarter of each year for the whole of England and Wales. Civil registration of births, marriages and deaths began on 1 July 1837. If you are sure of the registration district in which the event took place, you can obtain your certificate from the registration office of that district for £2.50, no search fee is charged.

When my Grandmother's birth certificate arrived, it stated that she was born in March 1876 at Green Hillocks, Ripley and her parents were John and Ann (formerly White) My next step was to send for the marriage certificate of John and Ann to obtain his father's name. I understood from relatives that my grandmother was the third child of the family so I guessed the marriage would have taken place pre 1874, probably in the Belper registration district. I asked for a search to be made in the years 1869/1873 (the search fee covers a period of five years) They could not find the entry. I wrote again asking for a search to be made from 1864/1868 inclusive, but again they could not find the entry. Very puzzled, I decided to go to London to make the search myself. I found the marriage entry for a John Soult in the September quarter of 1864, registered in the Derby district. If the partners name is known, it is advisable to cross check elsewhere in the register for that name, if it is found and the registration district and the index number are the same, you are sure you have your couple. I found Ann White, but here was the problem, although she had the same index number, she was registered under Belper. Register Office Assistants said this could not be my couple as the registration districts were different. I even saw the Manager, who wouldn't commit himself but promised to look into the matter. I again received a note stating the entry could not be found. I immediately sent asking that the marriage certificate of John Soult, which I had noted in the indexes be sent to me. It arrived and duly stated that John Soult married Ann White in September 1864 in the Belper district. All those years ago someone made a mistake by stating that John Soult was married in the Derby District. Now the searchers in the office would probably not realise that Belper is in the County of Derby and would not relate the two. Lesson number one - visit the records office yourself if possible. I must add that I was charged the old price for the certificate as I had originally applied before the price rise on 1 October 1975.

From this certificate I learned my great grandfathers date of birth plus his fathers name, which was also John, so his birth certificate was easily located, registered in the Ripley area of the Belper district in 1846, stating that his mothers name was Mary (Formerly Green)

My next step was to find the marriage certificate of John Soult and Mary Green, A personal search of the indexes from 1837/1846 proved fruitless. Did the marriage take place before July 1837? I then learned that the census returns for 1851, 1861 and 1871 are on microfilm at Derby Central Library. These are of value as they not only give the family names, but also their approximate age, occupation and place of birth. It is advisable to make an appointment to view these. In the 1851 census I found John and Mary Soult and family. John snr. was 50 and born at Stavely, but in the 1861 census he was married to Eliza and there were two more children. Had Mary died and had he married again between 1851 and 1861? Here was a chance to obtain his second marriage certificate, and this was easily found at the Belper registration office. This marriage took place in 1857 and stated that his fathers name was Samuel which doesn't sound very French to me. John Soult snr. was born in 1811 according to his age in the census returns, so he could have been Marshal Soult's son or grandson. I have searched the Stavely census returns and Anglican registers without finding trace of any Soult, perhaps they will be found in the nonconformist registers. The big question is, was Samuel Soult a son of Marshal Soult?

Menaced Churchyards

In connection with our self-imposed task of recording and indexing memorial inscriptions in Derbyshire Churchyards, we have made enquiries of the County Surveyor to find out which churchyards may be affected by highway improvements so depriving genealogists of valuable information in the future. Apparently headstones have already been lifted and stacked at some churches including Littlemoor Congregational Church, Gladstone Road, Glossop. These stones may still be available for transcribing inscriptions and as it only affects a small number of stones, perhaps someone who is passing that way would like to do a good deed? The work is expected to begin in the near future.

St. Mathew's Church, Hayfield also has the headstones stacked in anticipation of building a Church Hall on the site in late 1976/early 1977.

A small number of headstones at Christchurch, Dalbury Lees is affected by a road improvement scheme planned for 1976/77 and at Christchurch in Chesterfield some stones are likely to be affected on the east side by the Inner Relief Road scheme programmed to start in 1979.

If any members know of any other development schemes likely to threaten old churchyards, will they please inform the committee so that steps can be taken to collect the relevant data before it is lost

MEMORIAL INSCRIPTIONS - PENTRICH CHURCHYARD

Contributed by P.J. Middlehurst

On Saturday 29th May, ten members of the society met at Pentrich to record memorial inscriptions. Unfortunately after weeks of fine weather, the British summer arrived and rain fell all morning.

Mr. Davis and Mrs. Stumbles decided that conditions were too bad and beat a hasty retreat, but the remainder of the party, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Knight, Mr. & Mrs. Middlehurst, Mr. Spencer and son, Mrs. Staley and Mrs. Waterall, took advantage of a break in the clouds and set forth to see what could be done. What faced us was wet knee high grass, gravestones overgrown with ivy, and gravestones sunk into the ground. It was agreed that it was impossible to attempt anything that day, but a sketch map was drawn and the Churchyard split into sections defined by natural boundaries so that members could return in small parties as they found time.

On subsequent visits, 180 inscriptions have been recorded from 91 stones and some of these are recorded below. If you can help with completing the task, get in touch with any member of the committee. They will be only too pleased to receive any assistance

Footnote I am trying to obtain a copy of the memorial inscriptions from Swanwick Churchyard. The Vicar wishes to remove all the stones and grass over the graves. However, he did not wish to do this without recording the inscriptions, and so last summer a party of police cadets from Butterley Hall, under the leadership of P.C. Robinson, recorded them for him as part of their Duke of Edinburgh's Award Scheme gold medal project.

They drew a plan of the churchyard marking the position of each stone and copied all the information inscribed. I have contacted P.C. Robinson and he has promised to obtain a copy for our library.
